Commenting on the rather remarkable fact that the quartermaster's department of the United States army has recently bought the army's match supply from Soviet Russia at a time when idle match-makers in the United States could use the work, an exchange says:

"This excellent little object lesson illustrates the crux of the whole matter. If, in the long run, the Russians are able to undersell the capitalistic European competitors, the Communist regime will probably endure. If they fail, it won't. For this modern commercialized and industrialized world offers its greatest prizes to the man or the nation that can produce goods at the lowest expense."

Such a statement represents a false philosophy. When cheapness of production is secured by the sacrifice of human values, thru the enslavement and degradation of workers, it is a false and fleeting cheapness. Other nations have proved their ability to produce more cheaply than the United States, by paying far lower wages to workers than has been paid here, but they do not stand out as successes, for cheapness is attained by the sacrifice of consuming power and of human happiness that does not represent a proper ideal of civilization.

The idea that such cheapness secured through the cheapening of the life of the workers will succeed even in the sense of destroying competition based on higher standards of life, assume that nations not dedicated to the philosophy of regarding the worker as no more than a domestic animal, will allow free access to markets where higher standards of life, and therefore higher consuming power, has been developed. We have in the United States advocates of such policy, but the people of this country are not stupid enough to follow their advice. Whenever the danger involved in the capture of our markets and the destruction of the employment of our workers by such an invasion becomes fully apparent, the corrective will be applied in suspension of all commercial dealings with the exploiters, to whom all the financial profits are going, and the capitalistic partners of the Communist dictators of government which has set out to conquer the non-Communist world by cheapening goods and men without regard to the influence such a policy must exert on human welfare.

As for the quartermaster's department of the United States army, it should have been able to find a way to buy matches in the United States, rather than from a government sworn to destroy the American government by force and violence. There seems to be no good reason why the taxpayers of America should be required to contribute cash to such a purpose.

Miss Ruth Buhies of Alameda spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Young.

READ THE PRESSC. OF C. MEETING
DATE CHANGED;
OFFICER LAUDED

Last night at the regular meeting of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, presided over by the president, Dr. F. R. Anderson, the date of meeting was changed from the second to the first Monday of each month. At a special meeting on Tuesday evening, Aug. 4, the by-laws will be changed to accommodate the new date. The fact that the past meeting date conflicted with lodge meetings is reason for the change.

Plans for a police and fire district were discussed with vigor. Suggestions for removing present obstacles were offered and the police commission was asked to work out a better system of financing the night patrolman's pay. Following a report of the police officer, a resolution, suggested by Dr. Merrill, was passed upon, putting the Chamber of Commerce behind all reasonable actions of the patrolman and the police committee. Harry Evans was commended on his work since his appointment in April.

C. H. Whitman, chairman of the highway committee, gave a report and urged that action be taken to place stop signs on Hamilton avenue and the San Jose-Los Gatos highway, and at other intersections near Campbell where accidents have occurred.

The lighting committee advised that the P. G. & E. is prepared to supply 250 c.p. street lights in place of the 100 c.p. lights at an increase of seven cents in the tax rate. The increase would bring the cost to 27 cents on the 100 dollars of assessed valuation. The county supervisors will approve the additional expense upon being presented a petition bearing the signatures of 25 or more resident property owners. The petition may be signed at the office of G. E. Farley.

The second game of the series will be played here Sunday, July 26. The Santa Clara natives will play here this Sunday.

Ed Genasci was re-elected chief of the volunteer fire department at a recent meeting of the organization. Other officers are Frank Coupland, assistant chief; Antone Ferro, secretary and Horace Lea, treasurer.

Hoover Moratorium Plan, With French Modifications, in Effect—Great Britain Calls Conference to Work Out Details.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Julius Curtius

MUTUAL concessions by the United States and France, obtained by clever negotiation, resulted in the acceptance of the Hoover moratorium plan in principle by the French government. All other important nations already had accepted, so President Hoover announced that the plan might be considered as in effect as of date of July 1.

Briefly summarized, the agreement provides that debtor governments shall be relieved of payments due between July 1, 1931, and July 1, 1932, aggregating approximately 800 millions of dollars. Germany will be relieved of reparations payments to the former allied and associated governments totaling nearly 400 millions of dollars.

Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and other debtors will be relieved of war debt payments approximating 400 millions.

The greatest sacrifice will be made by the United States, which will forego war debts receipts totaling 260 millions.

Beginning July 1, 1933, the deferred reparations and war debt payments will be paid in installments during a ten-year period, in addition to the regular current payments.

Payment by Germany of conditional reparations totaling 243 millions will be unreservedly suspended. Germany will be required, however, to pay the unconditional reparations, amounting to $130,000,000, with the understanding that this amount in full will be loaned back to Germany.

A loan of about 25 millions will be made to Central European countries if necessary by the federal reserve banks of the United States and European central banks.

The accord reached was entirely satisfactory to both the Americans and the French. President Hoover gained his chief point, the gist of the whole plan, for Germany does not have to pay any international debts for one year. The French statesmen congratulate themselves because the accord calls for the moral support of the signatories in getting a private loan for France's central European friends, and lays upon Germany moral responsibility for not using her moratorium saving for armaments.

Foreign Secretary Julius Curtius and Chancellor Bruening of Germany, of course, are pleased beyond expression, and the former paid warm tribute to the work accomplished in Paris by Secretary Mellon. The German press, however, professes to be disgusted with the compromise. Several influential papers declaring that it wrecks the plan entirely. The "Young German order," which formerly worked enthusiastically for a Franco-German rapprochement, recently issued an order to its followers to withdraw from all Franco-German associations and to recall their children whom they sent to France for vacations, "because France has showed a mercenary spirit and unwillingness to co-operate for a return of sane conditions throughout the world."

In concluding his announcement of the agreement, President Hoover touched on the question of world disarmament, which he considers the second feature of his program for restoring economic prosperity.

HAVING ably seconded Mr. Hoover's effort to bring about the moratorium, the British government called a conference of the powers to work out the details of the plan. The premiers and foreign ministers are to meet in London, and it is expected Secretary Stimson will participate as an official observer when he reaches England.

This conference will meet from time to time for several months. It is understood, and may continue to function for several years. Before this body, toward the end of the one year Hoover moratorium, will come the question of the capacity of Germany to continue paying the Yout. plan reparations, the question of extending the Hoover debt holiday another year, and the question of revising reparations and war debts downward.

VICE PRESIDENT Curtius came out in the open in earnest opposition to the policies of the federal farm board, and, in company with Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, went before Chairman Stone and Carl Williams of the board to urge that it change its stand concerning its wheat holdings. The two Kansans argued for hours that this wheat should not be put on the market until the price reached 85 cents, but Mr. Stone refused to make any such pledge. He did state, however, that the board would not offer any of its wheat at the present low prices. But he made it plain that the board would abide by its policy enunciated July 1, which was that it would feel free to sell up to a cumulative maximum of five million bushels a month for the next year.

Mr. Curtius' activity in the controversy over the board's wheat holdings has been interpreted as indicating a desire on his part to avoid re-nomination for the vice presidency and to run for the Kansas senatorship which he formerly held. When asked about his political plans, he replied "They'll not get anything out of me for at least three months."

Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader of the senate, also has been trying to influence the farm board, arguing for 32 cents, which is said to be the average price paid by the stabilization corporation for its wheat, as the figure below which the board should not sell. Senator William E. Borah, insurgent Republican of Idaho and chairman of the agricultural committee named at the "progressive conference" last March, has insisted that the board defer all sales until wheat goes to $1.25.

Dr. J. I. France

DR. JOSEPH I. France, former United States senator from Maryland, evidently was in deadly earnest when recently he announced that he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency in 1932. Already he has started on his summer campaign, and his many friends are helping to the extent of their powers. The doings began with a public meeting at Mount Ararat farms, the doctor's country estate in Cecil county, Maryland. Very soon, it is expected, he will make a tour through the grain states of the West.

Assisting France in getting his campaign under way are Jonathan Bourne, former senator from Oregon and head of the Republican publicity bureau during the Wilson administration, and Lyle Rader, who is described as "a prominent New York chemist and Bible speaker."

Doctor France says that on his trip in the West he will give his reasons for seeking the Presidential nomination and will discuss "the grave world crisis and its remedy through the application of the principle of righteousness to economic, social and international problems."

BEFORE the convention of the Great Lakes-Hudson Waterways association in Albany, N. Y., Senator Copeland and Representative Hamilton Fish of the Empire state and various other attacked the proposed St. Lawrence ship canal and urged that congress begin as soon as possible the construction of all-American waterways from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic seaboard by way of the Mohawk valley and the Hudson, as a means to relieve unemployment.

S. Lewis of Santa Cruz. The accident occurred near the intersection of Campbell avenue and Winchester road.

"Ford Day" Proves
Big Success Here

A record crowd witnessed the motion picture, "A Tour Through the Ford Factory," at the Ford show held by Dunlap & Smily at the Service garage Friday afternoon and evening. Many different models of the new Fords were on display, together with parts boards and a motor which demonstrated the Ford oiling system.

Campbell merchants co-operated with Dunlap & Smily, offering Ford Day Specials in what proved to be one of the best trade days of the year.

During the intermission of the show in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bondon, KQW artists, sang and played several numbers which were enjoyed by the audience.

At a drawing of registry cards for prizes Mrs. S. R. Johnson of San Jose won a $25 credit on any model Ford car, as did Mrs. C. Mirandi of Campbell. Miss Ruth Stubbe drew third prize, a new inner tube.

that the St. Lawrence canal was considered only because the farmers of the Middle West wanted it for an outlet for their surplus grain, and Mr. Fish said the Russian wheat situation "now makes the building of a ship canal through Canada a fantastic myth."

THOUGH it is understood in Rome that Pope Pius and Premier Mussolini have both decided to avoid any precipitate action in their controversy, they continue to hammer at each other with encyclicals and newspaper articles. The pope steadily maintains that the church is suffering persecution at the hands of the Fascist rulers of Italy, but for the present at least he will not consider the withdrawal of the papal nuncio to Rome, Mgr. Borgoncini-Duca. The nuncio, for his part, has been doing all he could to bring about a peaceful settlement of the quarrel.

The pope's latest encyclical dealt severely with the Fascist position on the education of youth, and was characterized by the Italian press as a return to the medieval conceptions about the respective authority of the church and state. Copies of the document were not only distributed in the churches of Rome, but also were sent out of the country by special couriers—whom action drew Fascist ridicule.

Before the International Eucharistic congress in Lille, France, appeared a special emissary from the pope, asking that mass be said for the holy father and requesting the assembled high clergy and lay faithful to pray for his success in the battle in which it was declared the future of the church is at stake.

MAYBE there will be another war in South America before long. Dispatches from Asuncion, Paraguay, said that Senor Guachalla, minister from Bolivia, sent a note to the foreign office declaring he had been ordered by his government to suspend diplomatic relations between the two governments. The Paraguayan government replied with the announcement that it had ordered its minister to Bolivia to return home. Don't ask what it's all about.

Peru has been having a little war of its own—government versus revolutionists. The other day the rebels were defeated at Huambuto and the city of Cuzco, their headquarters, was taken. The revolt thereupon fled to the jungle, and probably little more will be heard of them.

MEXICO'S quarrel with the Church of Rome is now centered in the state of Vera Cruz and the prospects of a peaceful settlement are growing more and more remote. In protest against the recently enacted law of the state limiting the number of priests, Rt. Rev. Rafael Guizar Valencia, bishop of Vera Cruz, has instructed all Catholics of the state to abstain from attending dances, theaters and other festivities until the conflict is ended. The bishop also has instructed his priests to keep their churches open, even if the state forbids services conducted by priests.

JOSEF STALIN has made public the new policy of Soviet Russia in dealing with the bourgeoisie and the kulaks or well-to-do farmers. These classes, hitherto suppressed, persecuted and exiled, are now to be conciliated to an extent if they will consent to co-operate with and labor for the Soviet regime. The rulers of Russia have discovered that the brains and skill of the old order are needed to meet the growing demands of agricultural and industrial development.

As part of the new order of things Stalin also presented a program entailing radical changes in the government's policy toward labor and industry to insure the success of the five-year plan.

SECRETARY OF STATE STIMSON is having a pleasant time on his European vacation than has fallen to the lot of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. Starting too late to get mixed up in the moratorium negotiations, Mr. Stimson arrived at Naples Tuesday on the steamship Conte Grande, accompanied by Mrs. Stimson. He was met by Ambassador Garrett, and, following a visit to Pompeii and Herculaneum, went to Rome by automobile. Thursday evening he called on Premier Mussolini at the Palazzo Venezia and later met him at a dinner given by the American embassy. In Mr. Stimson's honor the ruins of the ancient Roman Forum, just beyond the Capitoline hill, were brilliantly lighted up at night.

The secretary's European vacation will last two months and he will devote considerable time to an investigation of conditions on the continent.

Pedestrians Should Be Careful

Motorists are not solely responsible for auto accidents.
327,418 accidents were caused in 1930 by carelessness of pedestrians. Of these 32.2 per cent were crossing streets, 24.9 per cent crossing between intersections, 20.1 per cent by children playing in streets, 11 per cent by coming from behind parked cars
and 11.8 per cent by miscellaneous causes.

Further investigation reveals that actions of pedestrians played a part in 39.2
per cent of all accidents and 47.7 per cent of all deaths.

Co-operation is essential in this national safety campaign
—motorists must watch out
for pedestrians and pedestrians must watch out for motorists.

And everyone owning,
driving or riding in an auto
must watch out that their insurance is in good, strong

Poor Sleep Due To Gas In Upper Bowel

Poor sleep is caused by gas pressing heart and other organs. You can't get rid of this by just doctoring the stomach because most of the gas is in the UPPER bowel.

The simple German remedy, Adlerika, reaches BOTH upper and lower bowel, washing out poisons which cause
gas, nervousness, bad sleep.
Get Adlerika today; by tomorrow you feel the wonderful effect. You will say the day you read this was sure a lucky day for you. —Shadle's

LOCAL CHURCH TO HOLD CHAUTAUQUA

The Campbell Methodist church will sponsor a cha-teauqua in the courtyard back of the church building beginning Sunday, July 19, and continuing for two weeks.

A program will be presented every evening. Music, lectures and magic by local and outside talent will furnish the entertainments. Entertainers, including Mr. and Mrs. Brush of Los Gatos, are hard at work on the specialties they intend to offer. Admission is free to the public. There is to be a show every evening
for the two weeks.
